LIGHT BALLOT IS INDICATED IN NOON VOTE

Total of 566. Cast, Including 447 Republicans, 119 Democrats

APPROACHES LOW FIGURE OF 1937

Precinct B of Second Ward Shows Heaviest Count, Total of 58

Advance expectations of an exceptionally light primary vote in Salem were being borne out at noon as a check-up of 14 city precincts revealed a total count of only 566, including 447 Republicans and 119 Democrats.

This compares with a total noon count of 850 in 1939; 506 in 1937; and 895 in 1933.

The 1933 noon total swelled to 1,336 by closing time to set the city record.

The largest number of voters to cast their ballots in any single precinct this morning did so in Precinct B of the Second ward. Fifty-eight people, 54 of them Republicans, voted at Sheen's service station before noon.

The votes in every precinct were smaller this year than in the unusually spirited 1939 campaign.

LISBON, Aug. 12.—The primary election vote in Lisbon isn't expected to total more than 400 votes, if the noon checkup is any indication. Only 88 votes had been cast at noon in the village's six precincts.

Precinct B in the Fourth ward, reported two Democratic votes in 1939 but had 11 today.

Judged by this closest noon count in recent years, 506 in 1937, Salem's total vote should approximate 1,750 this year. The Republicans this year were almost even with their 1937 noon total—427 to 429—but the Democrats were ahead—109 to 77. In 1937 the total counts by parties were 1,438 for the Republicans and 229 for the Democrats.

Today's noon count by precincts follows:

	Rep.	Dem.	Total
First Ward
A	13	7	20
B	29	7	36
C	12	14	26
D	37	13	50

EASY PAYMENT PLANS ARE HIT

Administration Will Clamp Down On Installments To Aid Defense

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Easy payment plans felt the impact of defense requirements today, as the administration acted to curb the nation's $10,000,000,000 installment credit business.

The announced purpose of the curb was twofold: To discourage consumers from buying many things containing materials that otherwise would be conserved for defense production needs; and

To counteract inflationary tendencies that arise when the demand for certain goods is greater than the supply.

President Roosevelt, in an executive order issued late yesterday, directed that the control system be set up to regulate the huge credit business now being transacted through the country's banks, stores and personal finance companies.

The order instructed the federal reserve system to formulate and administer the regulations under a World War statute which carries criminal penalties as high as 10 years imprisonment and $10,000 fine, for violations.

There was no immediate indication of what the regulations would be.

SANITARY PLANT'S OUTING SUCCESS

An estimated crowd of 2,400 persons enjoyed the National Sanitary Co's picnic Monday at Idora park, Youngstown. Twelve buses were required to transport a number of families from Salem to Youngstown.

In the children's contests, Nick Cosma, Jr., won the 10-yard race; Bob Whitacre the 15-yard race; Beatrice Taylor the 25-yard dash; and Richard Fritch the 100-yard dash. Kenneth Bosu won a penny scramble for children under five.

Darlan, Advocate of Nazi Collaboration, Is Vichy War Lord

Takes Control of All Military Powers In Reorganization of French Cabinet With Rank Second Only to Petain

BULLETIN
(By Associated Press.)

French Chief of State Petain committed himself to full collaboration with Germany late today, a few hours after Vice-Premier Jean Darlan, outspokenly anti-British, had been given supreme military powers in the Vichy regime.

Marshal Petain personally appealed to the United States for understanding and to the French for their cooperation.

He admitted that his so-called national revolution had failed of its aims so far.

VICHY, Unoccupied France, Aug. 12.—Vice-Premier Admiral Jean Darlan was named minister of national defense today in a reorganization of the French cabinet which concentrated all military powers in his hands.

A decree published in a special edition of the official journal gave Darlan greater powers than any person or combination of persons in France except Chief of State Marshal Petain himself.

Darlan, who on June 10 called for "loyal" collaboration with Germany and who has publicly attacked Britain's war role since the fall of France, was placed in charge of the following by today's decree:

1. General organization of national defense.
2. Distribution and use of the armed forces.
3. General inspection of the armed forces.

The clue to the concentration of powers was seen in statements when such a measure first was hinted that Darlan would thus have his hands freer to conduct negotiations with Germany for collaboration.

The German-controlled Paris press has been insistent lately that collaboration include military as well as political and economic matters, and has urged that such cooperation especially be extended to cover the defense of Dakar and the western "hump" of Africa and other strategic points in French Africa.

All members of the government were raised to ministerial rank by the new decree. Some of them previously had held the rank only of state secretary.

REDS FLEEING, GERMANS CLAIM

Berlin Says Some Panzer Units Have Reached Black Sea Area

(By Associated Press.)
BERLIN, Aug. 12.—Flying units of Adolf Hitler's panzer divisions have pursued Soviet armies of the Ukraine to the Black sea coast at several points, Nazi military sources said tonight, partly isolating the Red army units cornered to the west.

The points along the Black sea coast at which the panzer units have arrived were not divulged by these sources, but earlier it was reported the Germans were driving to objectives east of Ochakov, a small Black sea port 40 miles east of Odessa, the big naval base.

All Soviet troops in those areas are farther west toward the Dniester, where they were earlier reports to be virtually trapped.

Rail facilities in the whole area were reported demoralized as the Luftwaffe pounded at everything moving. The Russians were said to be trying to escape by sea.

The high command, stating that "operations on the eastern front continue favorably," said in its daily bulletin that the Luftwaffe was enroute to the Luftwaffe.

EXTEND ARMY SERVICE, PLEA

Texan Points to Hitler's Successes; Hopes British Can Stand

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Rep. Thomas (D-Tex.) called on the house today to extend the service of the nation's citizen soldiers because, he said, on the basis of expert military opinion Adolf Hitler is "going to take Russia" and then England will be "next on the list."

"Brave old England," Thomas said amid applause, "I hope she stands but there's not a man on this floor who doesn't know if she falls who will be next on Hitler's list."

Germany has 260 seasoned divisions in the field with 40 more in training which he was ready for service this fall, he said, adding: "Our army has 33 divisions and is untrained."

Thomas said there were more than 200 German schools in Argentina, 1,200,000 Germans in Brazil, many of them active in organized propaganda groups, and declared that Germans also had numerous air bases in Latin America, some of them "within striking distance of the Panama canal."

Speaker Rayburn and other Democratic leaders expressed confidence today that the house would approve an 18-month extension of service for the army's rank and file.

Rayburn previously had expressed concern over the vote on senate-approved legislation but now, he said, "I believe the situation is all right."

It was learned that Democratic sponsors of the extension believed that reports of German successes against Russia and a serious Far Eastern situation would make votes for the legislation.

CONCILIATOR TRIES TO SETTLE WALKOUT

CANTON, Aug. 12.—Daniel Hurley, labor department conciliator, attempted today to settle a walk-out of carburizing and hardening department workers at the Timken Roller Bearing Co. plant here.

Hurley conferred with company officials and CIO committee members from the two departments. The company reported, meanwhile, that about 35 of 70 hardening department workers utilized on the day shift and returned to their posts, although all 110 carburizing department employees remained out.

The dispute started last Thursday when the carburizing workers walked out, demanding a five-cent increase in hourly rates ranging from 72½ to 82 cents.

Hardening department workers left their jobs Saturday as a sympathy move.

BARN LEVELED, PRIZED STOCK IS DESTROYED

HOME ENDANGERED, SAVED BY FIREMEN

Fire Precedes Electrical Storm Which Sweeps Eastern Ohio

A spectacular fire which preceded the electrical storm in the district Monday night destroyed the Dean Hill Dairy barn on the Palmyra road, just northwest of Canfield, with a loss estimated at $45,000 to $50,000.

The dairy is operated by Dean Beardsley, who was in Canada at the time.

The fire leveled the barn, one of the largest in the Canfield area, as well as all out buildings and caused damage to the Beardsley home.

About 35 head of cattle and two $1,000 prized Jersey bulls, perished in the blaze. Some other cattle was in pasture at the time.

The flames, fanned by a 40-mile-an-hour wind, lit the sky and attracted persons from distant points. Salem state highway patrolmen were called to the scene to direct traffic. The glow in the sky was plainly visible here.

The fire was discovered at 9 p. m. by a passerby. The only persons home at the time were hired girl and several children of Willard Barker, brother-in-law of Beardsley. Barker, himself, had gone away for the evening.

The Canfield fire department was joined by others from Boardman, West Austintown and North Jackson. There was no hope of saving the barn so their attention was directed to the farm house, which, for a time, was endangered.

The milk house which adjoined the home was saved by the heat and the siding of the house was scorched in numerous places.

Articles of furniture were carried from the home only to be drenched by the rain which fell later on. Spontaneous combustion is believed to have been the cause of the fire which started in the barn. Insurance will cover part of the loss.

All of the dairy equipment, the cattle, a threshing machine, other equipment and some grain were lost in the blaze, according to Gilbert Delfs, chief of the Canfield fire department.

The electrical storm which swept through northern Ohio last night caused considerable damage, according to reports. Rainfall here measured .87 inches.

Youngstown was without lights more than an hour after high tension wires were downed. Elyria also was in darkness 48 minutes. Trees, telephone lines and light wires were blown down in many parts of the Cleveland district.

Radio station WHK went off the air for 23 minutes after lightning struck the tuning house on one of its three towers in Seven Hills village.

Shaw's car, which was parked waiting for a traffic light to change was shoved into the machine of John A. Whitacre of 650 Woodland ave., police said.

Adam Piersol of Winona suffered a broken right arm when his automobile struck and demolished a light pole on Newgarden st. at 12:30 p. m. yesterday. He was treated at the Central Clinic.

Mildred D. Marks complained to police after her automobile dropped into an open ditch on S. Lincoln ave. at 3:20 p. m. Monday. She charged that the ditch should have been designed by warning signs. She said the accident caused damage to her car and a tire blow-out.

Donald E. Felger, 17, and Marion Tudbaugh, both of Columbiana, escaped unscathed when Felger's automobile struck a telephone pole on Route 14 at the bottom of the Millville hill on Route 14 at 11:25 p. m. Monday, state highway patrolmen reported.

STEADY WORK

Ohio's unemployment compensation trust fund has now passed the $200,000,000 mark, a figure at which the new merit rating system of assessments may be put into effect, thus ending inequalities which penalized some employers in the past for the benefit of others.

Since the law became effective in 1936, all employers of three or more persons have been assessed 2.7 per cent of their payrolls, the money being held for payment of benefits to workers in seasons of unemployment.

The all time high employment of past months has helped to build up the surplus and experience of five years has shown where most of the benefit payments go. Starting the first of the year the assessments will be sealed to the employers' record, ranging from 0.7 of one per cent to 3 per cent.

Obviously the employer who makes every effort to keep his men at work during slack seasons deserves consideration above the one who lays his workers off at the first bad break in business and lets the state pay them compensation.

The new plan is an equitable one. It puts a premium on steady work and recognizes in an effective way the efforts of the employer who does his best to keep workers on the job. It is a practical application of the best kind of insurance against unemployment.

A RED MENACE EXPLODES

This just goes to show one of the ways in which spy scares and Red menaces sometimes are created.

In the great war games in the south this summer the army announced that the blue forces were defending "Almat" and the red forces were defending "Kotnik" (pronounced Kotnik).

Truly the names sounded quite like those appearing in the Moscow communiques and up in New England the people were perturbed and some of them wrote to Washington demanding to know why Uncle Sam's trainees were being Russianized in this bold fashion.

The war department's explanation quelled their fears. Almat is Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi Alabama and Tennessee, the territory held by the blue while Kotnik is Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri and Kentucky.

It was all very American and if anybody is to blame for the net result it is the Indians who gave the names to most of the states and therefore the alien sounding combination when their initials are scrambled.

A MINORITY SURVIVES

America provides ample demonstration of the truth that a determined minority cannot be killed by bigotry, persecution and terrorism as the eastern Mormons, known as the Church of Latter Day Saints, meet in the beautiful 105 year old temple in the rolling hills of Kirtland, O., for their annual 10 day reunion.

No European racial or religious group ever faced more savage cruelty than the followers of Prophet Joseph Smith. Driven from New York, Ohio, Illinois and Missouri by intolerance, their property burned, their leaders murdered and their people beaten, the Mormons found peace only when they pushed across the desert to settle in Utah after one of the most desperate migrations in history.

There were about 1,000 Mormons when Joseph Smith led them at Kirtland. Today there are more than 80,000. They built a state out of one of the most unpromising regions of the United States. They have given the country an inspiring example of faith backed by labor and courage. They have demonstrated the truth that a minority which believes it is right lives and prospers long after its persecutors are dead and forgotten.

THE FORGOTTEN JOB

The one public improvement which seems to have passed out of the picture is street improvement. There probably isn't a city in Ohio which is not in need of new paving or replacement on many of its thoroughfares but little or nothing is done about it.

Street paving once was purely a civic job. Then government aid came along and the work was financed with PWA and WPA help. These passed away and now nobody shoulders the responsibility.

Thoroughfares are patched until, like a thrifty farmer's pants, there is no place left to put patches. Minor streets are neglected until the holes menace motorists and the men who drive them.

State roads, and county highways, for the most part, have been given reasonable attention. It is often possible to tell when the motorist enters a corporation limit, even when the sign is absent, by the bouncing of his automobile when he comes within the city.

Municipal financing is a problem in most communities but it is time that they wake up to the fact that the George who used to do their paying for them has quit playing Santa Claus to the cities and it is time for the city fathers to get their heads together and figure out some way of making their streets safe and reasonably comfortable for traffic.

THE STARS SAY:

For Wednesday, August 13

A moderately successful and active day is read from the lunar and mutual configurations. While industry, sound ideas and steady development of them along routine lines should flourish, yet there may be some new, original and worthwhile flashes of an inventive or scientific turn, which may increase their importance and draw the attention of capital or public endorsement. Large corporations or influential groups may be found ready to support, but this calls for discretion and precaution, as intrigue, treachery and insincerity menace. Jealousy and competition might incite to underhand maneuvers from so-called friends.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may have a fairly successful year through their own brilliant, creative and original ideas, supported by sound tactics, hard work and common sense. These should assure cooperation from certain interests with capital for development. At the same time public bodies, groups or secret organizations may be disposed to manifest jealousy, rivalry and underhand methods. Keep alert to duplicity, betrayal and entangling alliances in both private and business affairs, and all should thrive and bring enduring rewards.

A child born on this day will have much originality, inventive powers and ambition, backed up by sound methods and traits of character. Its perseverance, industry and worth assure lasting success, although subject to betrayals.

The minister read the text: "The light of the wicked shall be put out." Instantly the church was in darkness. With scarcely a pause, the minister continued: "In view of the startling fulfillment of this prophecy, we will spend a few minutes in silent prayer for the electric light company."

had acquired trachoma on Egyptian farms and spread this eye disease through the civilian population of France.

A Bulletin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company deals with the migrations of people that are going on today all over the world. Why should a life insurance company be interested in the migrations of peoples? Because it affects mortality, which is the business of a life insurance company. And not just the mortality of the migrating peoples half across the world, but the health of you and me, here and now.

When peace comes to Europe, statesmen will be forced to reckon with millions of people whose hatreds, frustrations and poverty will raise serious problems and make difficult the tasks of the peacemakers.

The figures about these migrations are in themselves staggering. We have not all the figures, but it is likely that nearly a fifth of the living population of the world is more or less completely removed from what was its normal environment in 1935.

In England approximately a million civilians have been removed from heavily bombed areas. There are 2,000,000 strangers.

prisoners and civilians, at work in Germany.

Since 1933 permanent migrations have occurred from Germany and its captured countries at the rate of 200,000 a year.

The most striking of these so-called repatriation movements has been the transfer of Germanic people in the Baltic, Polish, Besarabian and Russian areas in 1939 and 1940. This involves at least 400,000 people. When Russia took Finland about 500,000 persons moved out of the territory ceded to Russia.

Totalled Millions

The number streaming from Belgium and Northern France just ahead of the 1939 invasion will never be known, but probably totalled millions.

In unoccupied France the number of refugees is estimated at 2,500,000.

There are at least 1,000,000 refugees in the Balkans from Poland. Whether they went back again in 1940 is a problem over which censorship has drawn a veil.

The figures for China and the Far East are mere guess work, but will probably make Europe's migrations seem puny.

All this means transfer of animal parasites, unfamiliar contagious diseases, starvation and the ravages of nutritional diseases. To say nothing of the effect of intermarriage on the incidence of epilepsy, feeble-mindedness, diabetes, cancer and arterial degeneration, and of psychological upheavals.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Feminine Reader:—"Will daily washing with brush and soap and massaging with cold cream rid my legs of permanent 'goose pimples'?"

Answer: These procedures will help, but it is now thought that persistent goose flesh is a sign of Vitamin A deficiency. Carrots in the diet three times a week, cheese, butter, liver and egg yolk will give the necessary Vitamin A.

FOR SPECIAL SERVICE by Maryse Rutledge

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE
Penetrating the small office, Tony was stopped again. It was a stronghold, as Ray had reported. The table was bare, except for the ivory-handled seal. Opposite the door, stood the cabinet sections, each padlocked. In one corner was a Dictaphone case locked.

Tony took hold of the nearest padlock and tried to wrench it loose by sheer strength. Not a chance. He would have to smash it.

Tony ran back into the first room, hunting frantically for some sort of hammer. He wheeled, feeling eyes upon him. A face grinned through the starboard window. It was Hioto, his owl features set in a mask of oriental glee. Hioto was having fun.

Then Tony went berserk. With a sweep of his arm, he overturned the case of red carnations on the table. A heavy bronze lamp stood behind it, and this Tony grabbed, swinging it at the mirrors which seemed still to hold Felix Norheim's reflection. The crash of glass brought him back to his senses. The bronze was solid enough to try on the padlocks. He charged back into the office, attacked the cabinets.

Hioto had ducked and come up again, framed in one of the office windows. He leered, then grimaced, as Tony, not heeding him, drove his blow after blow at one of the padlocks. With the grip he had on the base of the lamp and the fury behind his attack, the brass loop gave. Hioto vanished from the window.

Tony dropped the lamp, and passed his hand over his forehead. He was dripping wet. He yanked out the steel rod which clamped the drawers in place. He pulled at the second drawer. It came out scattering files and papers.

He was on his knees, scooping up letters, papers, documents, which he could see might be reports from spies and traitors in many sections of America. Yes, here he was, in one laboratory at least, where poison was mixed and dispatched with the purpose of paralyzing the United States! And this was only the contents of one drawer in one cabinet. Think of all the other files! But how could he?

Someone pounded on the thick glass of the window. At first, Tony heard nothing beyond the beat of his own blood. Then he glanced around. His heart rocketed. This time, Captain Buckner stood outside looking in. But his face was bleak, the face of a condemned man. Tony thought with instant terror. The skipper jerked his hand up, pointing in the direction of the lobby into which the main door of the suit opened. He did this twice, before walking away. Tony left the office and, inside the next room, where he had broken the mirrors, followed the progress of the grizzled head as it went past the starboard windows. There was something horrible about that slow march on deck, with the gleaming blue strip of sky and water as a backdrop. It was like the last measured steps. For Captain Buckner was not alone. Figures walked beside and behind him in the sunshine.

Then Tony heard a series of sharp raps on the door he had booted. His hand was on the bolt. His eyes stared at the red carnations he had hurled to the black rug.

"Mr. Worth?" It was Captain Buckner's voice, but with none of its usual resonance.

"Yes, Sir," Tony's hand went to the bolt, and withdrew.

Captain Buckner spoke again. "The Jap, the steward and two seamen are out here with me," he said. "It's mutiny, Sir. The chief engineer, Mitzel, is guarding my officers. Mr. Middleton and Mr. Swan. They're tied in the chart room, where I've been for over an hour Mr. Worth!" His voice rose. "Fritz has a knife at my neck. I'm to tell you that if you don't come out there with your hands up, they'll torture me. But—Worth—don't you do it, Sir!" Captain Buckner roared. "Don't come out!"

Theresa Lascar had clung to one hope since her meeting with Norheim on the Serena. He had sent her the white carnations of death, and she still lived. She had braved him on Marie Schuyler's yacht, and she still lived. Her hope had been, then, that he needed her in Cannes; that he would need her grace, her tact, and her villa for the climax to his most cherished plans. Now that hope was gone.

For two days, the Baroness had awaited the word Norheim always sent when he knew—as he must know now—that she expected a message. None came.

And that dawn, from the hill upon which her villa stood, back of the Route de Frejus, La Lascar had seen through her binoculars the white ship glide into the harbor. Then she had wept. And her faithful Anna had said, "Write a note to this Miss Schuyler, Madame. My nephew will deliver it. Never fear. Ask her, Madame. You must find out if this girl has stolen him."

When Anna had called a taxi, and driven to Cannes and back she had news that these men, Friedrich Haensel and Sergei Vorodkin, whom Norheim wanted most to see, were at the Hotel Carlton. Yes, the devoted and travel-experienced Anna knew desk clerks and head waiters all over the world. One of them had told her this news.

Anna hovered now over the mistress she adored, serving her a Viennese brew of cafe au lait. "You must eat, too," Anna urged. "You are young. Not yet forty. And you are beautiful. You should find a rich and handsome husband—someone...." she added thoughtfully, "like the American lawyer, Mr. Anthony Worth, you spoke to me about."

"Years and years younger, in love with the Schuyler, and poorer. I suspect, than he appears," Madame Lascar smiled faintly, pushing her tray aside. She lay back in the chaise longue by the window, staring out at the pink roses in her small garden. But she didn't really see their rich bloom or hear the drone of bees in the sunlight.... Presently Anna went away.

"I taught him to love, and he has taught me to hate," Theresa thought. Felix Norheim was fifty now, and insatiably greedy still for all he had coveted in his youth. Why did she love him? Her mind went back a decade or more....

They had met, Felix and Theresa, at a Greenwich Village party in 1919, in far-off New York. She was eighteen. Felix had been thinner then, and always hungry, with a fierce yet fastidious appetite that craved more than food and drink. Women of a certain type were mad about him, because he was foreign, brutal, sensual, brilliant. He might have been Swedish, Irish or Russian. He told her later that his mother was a Georgian peasant, of Caucasian blood, and his father a Prussian nobleman. The formation of his wide brow, even at thirty, was like a fortress prepared for a siege. His pale blue eyes, set obliquely above high cheekbones, were suspicious of everyone, everything. His underlip was over-ripe and full. He was indeed ugly. Yet he was fascinating.

Theresa worked in a department store. Her mother had been a Roumanian. Her father had disappeared when Theresa was a child. She had loved Felix because he had taught her sophistication, and had captured her romantic fancy. Many people with ideas had come to their shabby studio on Parry street, the year of ferment after the war. Some of them made money, and drifted away. Others drank themselves to death or worse. But there were always some who met to discuss things endlessly, and who started small magazines. Felix contributed articles to these, and he wrote several radical pamphlets. He joined in labor movements, talked of liberation for the masses, etc., etc. But whenever he had a little money, he used it on luxuries. Just as he used people.... just as he used, Theresa.

When the word "depression" was selected to describe conditions that had been going on for a long time, Felix and Theresa were as poor as they had always been. It was then that Norheim discovered America as fertile ground for planting seeds of discontent and reaping their political crops. He found a profitable business among foreign agents in the general slough of despond. And that was the very time, as Felix saw it, to prepare for nation-shaking campaigns ahead.

Norheim watched groups, priced back of them for their sources and moneys. He guided whispers and joined parties of malcontents who were jealous of each other. His genius was in foreseeing the worst, and proposing ways out. But always he kept his council.... Then, suddenly Felix went to Europe with Theresa. He travelled under many names and passports to Moscow, Berlin, Paris, London—sounding out, feeling out, contacting.... Sometimes Theresa went with him. Sometimes she stayed behind in the studio he had taken in the Montparnasse quarter of Paris. For, although the "Boule Mich," as related to the Sorbonne College, continued to be known as the Latin Quarter, Montparnasse was an international swarm of artists, many of them Americans. Other individuals haunted Montparnasse, men and women whose business was not so clear.

"We must make money, lots of it," Felix kept saying. "You will see, Theresa. There will be less and less money for individuals. Governments will get it. Revolutions will get it. Wars will demand it. Only those in the know.... and in power.... will be rich. Democracies, after all, are composed chiefly of sentimentalists. Italy, for all her chest-swelling Fascism, sings her songs at home. But Germany, Russia and Japan, are out to conquer. I shall make a world-wide trademark for them."

That was the beginning of his agency career. Even now it was still in its infancy, although Norheim refused to admit he had not already performed the impossible. Yet this vast secret agency still faced the distrust of the government. Felix presumed to help.... for a percentage, of course. His only chance lay in the coming war.... munitions, trade, espionage. And he needed funds, as any other business man must have capital.... ready capital. So Marie Schuyler was the first answer.

Theresa Lascar got up from her chaise longue, to walk the floor. The truth was she loathed yet loved Norheim. She knew she couldn't help him any more because, well—she didn't believe in that which he was going. The very use to which Felix had put her as a glamorous spy had made her respect the people she was supposed to destroy.

"He shan't have that girl," she thought bitterly. "I'll kill her—and him—first."

She looked out of her window, across the garden. Between the fir trees at the entrance, she saw the road winding down to the Route de Frejus. Her telephone rang. It was Marie, talking from her coiffeur's shop in Cannes. When Theresa had hung up, she wondered why she had warned the girl against Luigi.... Luigi, who was Norheim's No. 1 killer; Luigi, who had delivered the white carnations on the Savoia.

There were hours to wait now until afternoon. But it was not yet two o'clock when Madame Lascar, back at her window, saw Norheim's yellow car climb the hill and draw up at the foot of her path. So Marie had disregarded her warning, and let Luigi bring her here, after all. "Nitechevo!" Theresa murmured. That Russian word for fate she had learned from Norheim who only pronounced it in her presence. Luigi meant danger.

Madame Lascar watched him slide from behind his wheel, without a glance at the villa he knew so well. Then he handed Marie out, and drove off.

LITTLE CHATS ON PUBLIC NOTICES

By J. E. Pollard, Journalism Professor, Ohio State University

In The Spotlight

The news columns of the daily and weekly press are a sort of multiple spotlight for all those persons who figure in the news, great or small. But there are other parts of the newspaper which provide a different kind of spotlight, often more important than that which plays on Page One. Chief among these are the public notices which dot the inside pages of the press and which have to do with all manner of things.

One form of public notice which is particularly important is that which makes an official accounting of public funds at stated intervals. Many states, like Michigan, for example, require such accounting by law in the form of official advertising which is the same as public notice. In this role newspaper advertising performs a "very important function," according to Henry L. Woolfenden, executive secretary of the state bar of Michigan.

Among other things, Michigan requires public accounting notices to taxpayers and warning notices to individuals. The former are published reports of governmental bodies or individuals who are discharging a public trust. In Mr. Woolfenden's words, this type of notice "is the cheapest and most effective insurance the taxpayers can buy on the ability and integrity of their elected officials." In other words, the publicity required in the form of such notices is a guarantee of honest stewardship when they are published in the newspapers. (Copyright, 1941, by J. E. Pollard)

HE REALLY WANTS TO BE POLICEMAN

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—A man must be at least five feet seven inches tall to become a New York city fireman, so here's what Gino Flaneschini, 19, did to extend his 5 feet 5 1/2 inches:

He devised a canvas sling that he strapped under his chin, flung an attached rope over a gymnasium chinning bar, and used it daily in pulling himself to the floor.

He captured some wild bees, rubbed honey on his head and hoped they would sting him and thus raise bumps, but the bees died.

He placed a thin mattress on a floor and lay upon his back for nearly 50 hours "to relax my bones."

Yesterday he had his father and brother carry him stretched out on an improvised stretcher to the New York university gymnasium where the firemen's examination was being held.

Just before he got off the stretcher he struck himself on the head twice with a wooden mallet and raised two sizeable bumps.

The man with the measuring machine informed the youth he had gained 1/2 of an inch but still was a half-inch below standard.

Gino, however, was given conditional approval—provided that he can stretch that other half-inch within six months.

$160 Taken by Bandits In 2 Wellsville Jobs

WELLSVILLE, Aug. 12 — Police today searched for two gunmen who fled in an automobile after obtaining $80 in a holdup at a roadside diner owned by Harold Flowers.

Shoo! Shoo!

KANSAS CITY — The Duncan Dailam's chickens are back home, still confused about the whole thing.

An irate neighbor shooed them into a taxi cab and whisked them off to police headquarters.

"There are Dailam's chickens. They were in my zinnias," she told Sgt. E. K. Bullard, and left.

Bullard booked the fowls and notified their owner.

They rode home in the family car, hours later, pledged to stay in their own backyard.

RED ARMY FLEEING, IS GERMAN CLAIM

bombed military objectives in Moscow last night along with "several important railway junctions." Big fires and explosions crippled the Soviet railway facilities, the high command said.

Reds Continue Fight

MOSCOW, Aug. 12—Hard-pressed on both flanks, the Red army was reported today fighting fiercely against two Nazi-cracker movements around Leningrad in the north and Kiev in the Ukraine.

The daily war bulletin declared the Russians still held the Nazis stalemated on the central road to Moscow in the long-contested Smolensk salient.

The centers of fighting in the north were listed as Kalkisalmi, on the Karelian isthmus, 75 miles north of Leningrad, and in the Soltsi sector 120 miles south of Russia's second-largest city.

Key battle zones in the south still were given by the Russians as Horosten, 80 miles northwest of Kiev, and Uman, midway between the Ukraine capital and the big Black sea port of Odessa.

The communiqué credited the Red air force with hard blows at Nazi infantry and motorized forces along the entire battlefield and at the Luftwaffe's nests deep behind the lines.

The Soviet bureau of information's midnight communiqué dealt principally with the stepped-up air war and increasing guerrilla operations behind the German lines.

Fighting in the Smolensk salient toward Moscow went into its 28th day with the Nazi eastward push apparently still checked firmly.

5 PERSONS RESCUED FROM TINY ISLAND

SOUTHAMPTON, Ont., Aug. 12.—Five persons who leaped into Lake Huron from their crippled cruiser and waded to a tiny island were brought here today.

They were Capt. Edwin T. Hamilton, formerly of Cleveland, an author and now resident of Stokes Bay, Ont.; Mrs. Kathleen Shem and her two children, Arian, 14, and Thomas, 15, of Cleveland, and Jack Smith, Stokes Bay seaman.

Shortly after the party set out from here yesterday morning for Stokes Bay in the cabin cruiser "Dolly Dean," a crankshaft broke and the boat began drifting. Another ship spotted the disabled craft late yesterday and tossed a line, but this broke and the "Dolly Dean" was swept out of sight by a heavy wind.

The rescue boat returned later with a new line and sighted the five on the island, to which Capt. Hamilton explained they had waded when the wind tossed the ship toward the shore.

Suppose YOU were a Dictator

Would you let newspapers call you names and expose your misdeeds? Hardly! You wouldn't be a dictator very long if you did.

Suppose, being a dictator, you wanted people to give up butter and do without corn flakes. Would you let merchants and manufacturers advertise those things at attractive prices? You wouldn't be a dictator very long if you did.

So, you see, newspapers, free to bring you all the news, are dictator-killers.

WITHOUT THE FACTS the whole people might easily go along with a dictator. With the facts—and the right to govern ourselves and the right to choose what we want to buy, we manage, in America, to keep DICTATORSHIP so far away it can't get a start.

The important thing is to PRESERVE YOUR RIGHT to all the facts.

A letter from those of you who share our views will hearten us. A letter from those of you who disagree will chasten us. And newspapers, if they are to serve you well, need both the heartening and the chastening of an alert readership. Address the publisher of this newspaper.

Today, more than 320 of America's leading newspapers are carrying this message to their 10 million subscribers. Newspaper Publishers Committee, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York.

Jess Dunn

Four men, including Warden Jess Dunn, above, are dead and four others wounded as a result of a break from the state prison at McAlester, Okla. Dunn was seized along with a visitor by four convicts attempting the break. With Dunn and the visitor, J. H. Fenries, held as hostages, the convicts sped away in an automobile. Word of the break reached Deputy Sheriff Bill Alexander in the county jail at McAlester. He picked up two men, one of them Deputy Sheriff Tab Ford, and blocked the road with his car. A half mile from the prison the fleeing convicts and the deputies met. The shooting spree followed. When it was over, Warden Dunn was found dead in the convicts' car. Ford was killed as were Claude Beavers and Roy McGee, two of the desperadoes.

National League Provides Only Baseball Show This Year

AMERICAN LEAGUE RACE IS LISTLESS WITH YANKS AHEAD

Dodgers, Cards, Meanwhile Provide Thriller For National Fans

(By Associated Press)

A couple of years ago people were poking fun at the National league as a big minor circuit but it knocked out the rival American league in two All-Star games and the 1940 World Series and this summer has been giving the fans the only run for their money under the big top.

The battle between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals is as exciting as the "Perils of Pauline" with the buzz saw getting closer at the end of every installment.

The Dodgers bashed down hard on the New York Giants yesterday, 15-7, and the St. Louis Cardinals conquered the Chicago Cubs, 7-5, to continue their neck-and-neck race with the Dodgers still in front by the slender margin of .003.

Huge Leads Dodgers
Kirby Higbe pitched and batted the Dodgers to their triumph, his 16th. He checked the Giants on seven hits.

The Dodgers took charge in the first inning with seven runs, three of them on Ducky Medwick's 15th homer and two on a single by Higbe with the bases loaded.

The Cardinals likewise nailed down their victory early, taking a 5-1 lead in the first four frames, but it took a magnificent relief pitching performance by Harry Gumbert to save it for them. In the fifth Lon Warneke was pelted for successive home runs by Phil Cavarretta, Stan Hack and Bill Nicholson. Then Gumbert hurried on the scene and pitched no-hit ball for 4 2-3 innings.

Phillies Win
In the only other National league contest the Phillies whipped the Boston Braves, 6-3.

The listless New York Yankees, so far in front of the American league that few people pay any attention to them, were shut out, 9-0, by the Boston Red Sox as Jack Wilson pitched four-hit ball for his first complete game of the season.

Boston made 14 hits. Dominic DiMaggio supplied three, including a homer.

Fight! Fight!
The wave of "beatings" during the weekend brought on a fight as part of the doubleheader between the St. Louis Browns and the White Sox at Chicago. In the first game Elden Auker smashed Joe Kuhel on the shoulder with a pitch. One word led to another and then to fistfights. Players on both teams rushed out and Alan Strange of the Browns joined in the sparring. All three were banished.

The White Sox went on to win 14-9, with Luke Appling batting in five runs in leading a 14-hit attack. The Browns captured the nightcap, 10-3, with a 17-hit assault on George Caster's first victory of the year.

Theatre Attractions

A novel by A. J. Cronin, "Shining Victory," shows at the State Wednesday only, with the late James Stephenson, Geraldine Fitzgerald, Barbara O'Neill and Donald Crisp in the principal roles.

Cronin's story of a brilliant psychiatrist who discovers of a cure for mental ailments is first prevented by a scheming associate who steals his records, and then by a psychopathic woman who believes herself in love with him. His romance with a young woman assistant infuriates the other woman and her revenge brings tragedy to the psychiatrist and his fiancée.

At the State for the last time tonight is the technicolor, "Shepherd of the Hills," with Harry Carey, John Wayne, Betty Field and Benish Bondi.

The Grand's attractions Wednesday are: "Scattergood Pulls the Strings," with Guy Kibbee as the popular Clarence Budington Kelland character, Bebe Watson, Susan Peters and James Cagney; and "Citadel of Crime," featuring Robert Armstrong, Frank Albertson, and Linda Hayes.

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Ray W. Wilson, assistant to the city manager, decided Kansas City's expense of $14,000 a year to collect $28,000 in dog taxes was too great so he wrote other municipalities asking information on their expenses. Now he is telling officials in other cities how Kansas City manages a profit from the dog tax, for it seems that in most cities that department operates at a loss.

TRADERS NOSE OUT CARROLL CLUB, 2-1

Holmes Allows Only Three Safe Hits In Close Contest

Walt Holmes allowed the Carroll's only three safe hits as the recharged Trades Class battled through to its second win in the third round of Class A softball, 2-1. The Trades, meanwhile, took Gregg for seven hits, three of them by J. Lutes.

A Saxon-Recreation game scheduled for last night was postponed. No church league games were played.

"For Fun" Role Fatal

Jack Budlong

Heir to a $5,000,000 fortune, Jack Budlong, above, took a bit role in a Hollywood movie "just for the fun of it." Playing the part of a cavalry officer in a film, he was thrown from his horse and was impaled on a heavy saber. The wound caused his death. Budlong, son of the late multi-millionaire pioneer automobile manufacturer, is survived by his wife, an expectant mother.

CLEVELAND RAMS SEEK HALFBACK WHO IS ELUSIVE

Pro Footballers Have Lots Of Beefy Linemen But Nary A Speedster

BEREA, Aug. 12—Stodious Dutch Clark strolled among his beefy Cleveland Rams today hunting for a fast, elusive halfback to climax the go-ahead drives of the 1941 Cleveland Rams.

Plenty of power runners and a massive group of linemen were in the squad of 33 huskies on hand for the club's second workout but their coach still seeks a slick ball-carrier to help out Pass-minded Parker Hall at the tailback spot.

Owen Goodnight, from Hardin-Simmons college, drew plenty of attention as the drills progressed. He carries the reputation of being a strong all-around back.

Tony Galovich, a much-publicized runner from Wake Forest, is due to report later in the week and may fill the spot.

Meanwhile Clark has little to worry about in the way of experienced men in the secondary. In addition to the brilliant Hall, he has Johnny Drake, all-league full-back last fall; Corby Davis, the former Indiana All-American; Marty Slovak, the Toledo speedster; Len Janak, former Ohio U. star; Gaylon Smith, Dante Magnani and Glenn Olson.

The starting quartet probably will be Hall, Drake, Davis and Magnani, the only holdover wingback.

End From Nebraska

Clark is counting on Ray Prochaska of Nebraska's Rose Bowl eleven to bolster the end spot.

The center looks safe with experienced Johnny Haman and Red Knight on duty and Warren Densmore of Toledo signed.

Ram supporters grow most enthusiastic about the line prospects. Five veteran tackles—Chet Adams, Moose Dunstan, Stan Anderson, Boyd Clay and Fred Shirey—are making it tough for a rookie to break through. At the guards Barney McGarry, Riley Matheson and Hank Rockwell are back.

A promising crop of newcomers headed by Jack Gregory of Chattanooga and Bill Reith of Carnegie Tech should plug any gaps.

The Rams have three weeks to get in shape for the opener Sept. 3 in Cleveland stadium with the college All-Stars.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Briezy To You

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.

(Pinch Hitting for Eddie Briezy)

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—The 1941 Football Guide will be off the new publisher's presses and ready for sale August 24. We've had a peek at an advance copy and can tell you the pictures alone will be worth your four bits. The Eddie Blunt-Bill Poland fight August 27 at Washington is the longest scheduled heavyweight fight in two decades. It's for 25 rounds, and the worst part is it might even last that long. Here's one (and only one) time the Phillies are first. Danny Litwhiler was the season's first National leaguer to hit a homer in every park in the circuit.

Doing It Up Brown

San Antonio baseball writers, who were a bit disgruntled that their club didn't get more help from the St. Looney Browns, have learned why. When Carthage (Mo.), the Brown's other farm, wired: "We need two pitchers, two infielders, two outfielders," back came another wire: "So do we."

No Service Charge

The response to last week's appeal for plans to stage army camp football games has been gratifying. One of the best comes from Bill Scanlon, of the La Crosse (Wis.) Tribune and the Notre Dame publicity dept., who points out the first crying need is for equipment, and suggests that colleges contribute what they have left from last season. The major league clubs will play a lot of exhibition games at the southern army camps next spring.

They won't make any money on them, but it's a swell way to build up future trade. The draft and defense jobs have taken so many Bi-State league umpers that utility players may be called in to work some league games.

Today's Guest Star

Jack Carberry, Denver Post: "Cards or Dodgers, Dodgers or Cards—either should be the Yankees' oyster. And October has an 'R' in it."

Short Shots

Ace Parker's busted gam has mended so quickly that he'll be on hand to greet the Football Dodgers when they start training tomorrow and may play in the opening game. The other American league clubs can't keep hating the Yankees. In a week's road tour, the Yanks drew 123,000 customers and had three sell-out crowds. The California boxing commission held a solemn meeting while called to act promoters why their fight shows weren't drawing better. Mike Jacobs will ask $30 for ringside seats for Louis-Nova. That's the highest price since the Baer-Louis affair, which wasn't worth it either.

SAN FRANCISCO—War-caused trade dislocations have resulted in the importation by French Indo-China of 25,000 gallons of California wines monthly. California, to supply this and other new demands, has increased grape acreage to 42,100.

Outnumbered

PHILADELPHIA—A motorist who attempted to drive past a trolley car on the wrong side found himself outnumbered.

A dozen policemen bound for work climbed off the car—and all blew their whistles.

FELLER, MILNAR TO HURL TODAY

Rain Yesterday Brings Double Header With Detroit Today

DETROIT, Aug. 12—Manager Roger Peckinpaugh sent Bob Feller and Al Milnar against the Tigers today as the unhappy Indians fought to protect their second-place lead in the run-away American league race.

Trailing New York by 13 1/2 games the Redskins now face a battle to hold their margin over Boston and Chicago. The Red Sox are two behind and the White Sox 4 1/2.

The double-header was created yesterday when rain washed out the opener of a two-game series. The Tribe leaves tonight for a two-day stand in St. Louis, winding up the western tour with three tussles in Chicago.

Feller is seeking his 21st victory and Milnar his 8th. The big southpaw has not started a game since July 20.

Clarence Campbell has received his draft questionnaire but he does not expect to be called before the end of the season. He is 24 and unmarried. He is playing center field in place of Roy Weatherly, currently in disfavor with Peckinpaugh for missing signals.

PAYMENT BUYING TO BE CURTAILED

Administration Will Clamp
Down On Installments
To Aid Defense

tion of what the rules would be, but Mr. Roosevelt specifically authorized such measures as requiring down payments where they are not now required; requiring bigger down payments than now necessary; requiring larger weekly or monthly installments, and reducing the time such payments may run.

Credit contracts already existing or entered into before the new regulations become effective will not be subject to the new control system.

The President held that the regulations were necessary to curtail the present use of installment credit for purchase of "consumers' durable goods."

Chairman Marriner S. Eccles of the federal reserve board did not specify the complete range of products whose purchase on credit would be affected. Until the code has been formulated, he said, consumers were free to make purchases on whatever terms they can obtain from tradesmen.

The only announced exception was credit for the purchase or construction of new homes. Loans of this type will not be subject to regulation, Eccles said, but loans to finance repairs on existing houses may be regulated.

Once the regulations have been issued, it will be unlawful for anyone to sell the items specified on any credit terms except those specified by the federal reserve board. The regulations will be administered through the existing federal reserve organization throughout the country.

Strikers Return to Work

CLEVELAND, Aug. 12.—Fifty members of the CIO-steel workers organizing committee agreed to return to work at the Joseph T. Ryerson and Sons steel warehouse today after a brief walkout protesting a reduction in working hours. Warehouse Manager Fred Doran said the hours were reduced from 48 to 42 a week because of steel shortages.

Auto Deaths Blamed On Traffic Volume

COLUMBUS, Aug. 12.—A tremendous increase in the volume of traffic due to the defense program was blamed today for a soaring toll of deaths on Ohio's rural roads.

State Highway Director Hal G. Sours said that 371 persons died in mishaps outside of municipalities during the first six months of 1941. This was 73 more than were killed in the comparable period a year ago.

Commenting on a report that included statistics covering rural roads only, Sours said:

"The figures reveal that the highways where traffic was the heaviest have received the greatest increase in volume of traffic under the impetus of the national defense program."

A further breakdown shows accidents increasing in direct proportion to the concentration of traffic. For example, Sours cited Portage county where a $40,000,000 shell leading plant is being constructed. During the first six months of this year, 25 deaths were recorded in the area, compared with 10 over the same period a year ago.

The report listed 6,512 accidents and 5,369 injuries this year as against 5,712 accidents and 4,563 injuries a year ago.

Bomb Shells

NEW YORK—The police bomb squad was called to investigate a suspicious package found near the Queens Electric Light and Power company plant.

The experts handled the package gingerly, mindful of past bomb cases, soaked it in oil and then opened it to find — something of a clam chowder instead of powder. It contained a bushel of oily clams.

MARRIAGE LICENSE APPLICATIONS BOOM

LISBON, Aug. 12.—Twenty-seven couples made application for marriage licenses before Probate Judge H. W. Hammond Monday as the deadline for securing the necessary papers on application was reached.

Couples applying the remainder of this week, who cannot satisfy the court as to the residence of the bride in this county and cannot obtain a waiver of the five-day law, may file their application, but must submit to a medical examination before the license will be granted next Monday, when the new marriage law becomes effective, or thereafter.

Under the new law, couples contemplating marriage must present a physician's certificate showing freedom from communicable syphilis on the part of both the prospective bride and groom. The law remains the same in that it requires the bride-to-be to be a resident of the county in which the application is made.

Couples may go to any duly licensed physician. A sample of the blood of the applicant is taken and sent to a laboratory approved by the state department of health for analysis. The report is returned to the physician, and, if favorable, he will sign and forward it to the applicant, who must then present it to the clerk of the probate court, showing that the person has had a medical examination within the past 30 days.

BRIDGEPORT, Aug. 12.—Charles H. Sprague, 55, former mayor of Bridgeport, died last night after an illness of two weeks.

REGARDING

LUMBER PRICES

The fact that Lumber Costs have Skyrocketed within the past few weeks is generally known. Today's high mill costs together with an unexpected Shortage of Lumber would create a retail selling price which we fear would stop needed construction in this vicinity--therefore--we have decided to disregard replacement costs and to restrict our sales as much as possible, to this immediate vicinity and especially to our good customers--some of whom have dealt with us almost thirty years.

To our good contractor friends we offer every cooperation that is possible for us to give at prices that are not consistent with today's market--while our present stock lasts.
